Bernard Shaw, Vol. 2: Containing as Well a Word on the Dramatic Opinions and Essays In all the arts there is a distinction between the mere physical artistic faculty, consisting of a very fine sense of color, form, tone, rhythmic movement, and so on, and that supreme sense of humanity which alone can raise the art work created by the physical artistic faculties into a convincing presentment of life. Take the art of acting, for instance. The physically gifted actor can fill in a conventional artistic outline with great charm. He - or she (I really mean she, as will appear presently) - can move exquisitely within the prescribed orbit of a dance, can ring out the measure of a line of blank verse to a hairs-breadth, can devise a dress well and wear it beautifully, can, in short, carry out with infinite fascination the design of any dramatic work that aims at sensuous and romantic beauty alone.
